Mirum Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (hereinafter “Mirum”) as the Controller of the personal data, is committed to comply with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and all applicable laws and regulations regarding data protection. All information that you provide, or that we collect, in connection with your consent for communication, is governed by our Privacy Policy, available at <https://mirumpharma.com/privacy-policy/>

Mirum has either received Personal Data about you from a third-party provider, which maintains an updated database of contact details of healthcare professionals in your country or collects Personal Data about you following interactions with our medical and/or commercial company representatives. This statement explains how Mirum processes your Personal Data, how you can contact Mirum with inquiries or complaints, and how you can access, modify, or delete your Personal Data.

Mirum treats your Personal Data in a confidential manner and uses at least the same level of care in safeguarding that it uses with its own confidential information of similar nature. Your personal data are contained behind secured networks and are only accessible by a limited number of persons who have special access rights to such systems and are required to keep the information confidential.

We are a global business. As a result, where necessary for the purposes identified, the data we collect from you may be transferred to, and stored at, any of our locations, which may be inside or outside the European Economic Area ("EEA").

Our primary servers are in data centers and/or cloud based. Our Staff may be required to have access to your data to respond to your information requests or provide support services, among other things. Data may also be shared with our vendors that may be located outside EU/EEA, UK or Switzerland. In any case, Mirum will ensure that the recipient is located in an adequate country, or if it is not the case, appropriate safeguard will be put in place. This will allow to ensure that the transfer of your data outside EEA/UK/Switzerland is made in compliance with applicable laws, and that your Personal Data will be properly protected by the recipient of the data.

This appropriate safeguard may take the form of standard contractual clauses integrated in an intra-group data sharing agreement set up between our entities worldwide, or in contracts with our vendors.

Your Personal Data you provided for e-email communication shall be stored until the consent has been withdrawn and will not be retained in an active database for longer than three (3) years from the last use of such Personal Data, unless different time period is required per country law or your consent for additional storage has been obtained, or if Mirum is subject to statutory obligations to provide such Personal Data after the abovementioned period, or such is required in furtherance of the defense of a legal claim.

According to the GDPR, you have the following rights: obtaining and accessing information regarding the processing of your personal information; asking to have your incorrect or incomplete data rectified; requesting that we erase your personal information in certain circumstances; objecting to, and requesting that we restrict, our processing of your Personal Data; requesting the receipt or the transfer to another organization, in a machine-readable form, of your personal data; withdrawing your consent at any time when this is the legal basis to process your data; not being subject to automated individual decision-making; and lodging a complaint with the relevant data protection authority if you think any of your rights have been infringed by us. We can, on request, tell you which data protection authority is relevant to the processing of your personal information.

Please note that there are exceptions to these rights and in some circumstances, we are legally entitled to refuse your request to exercise your rights. Generally, this is when your attempt to exercise your rights infringe on another individual's rights.

If you have any questions about your rights or would like to exercise them, please contact us via email at mirum.dpo@mydata-trust.info.
